Housing is one of the biggest expenses for retirees in Costa Rica. A one-bedroom apartment in a popular tourist area can cost around $500-$1,000 per month. A two-bedroom house in a more rural area can cost around $300-$500 per month.

Food is also relatively inexpensive in Costa Rica. A meal at a local restaurant will cost around $5-$10. Groceries are also very affordable. A week's worth of groceries for a couple will cost around $50-$75.

Healthcare is another important consideration for retirees. Costa Rica has a universal healthcare system that provides affordable coverage to all residents. The cost of health insurance is around $100-$200 per month for a couple.

Transportation is also very affordable in Costa Rica. A bus ticket will cost around $1-$2. A taxi ride will cost around $5-$10. If you plan on driving, the cost of gasoline is around $4 per gallon.

The Weather

Costa Rica has a tropical climate with two distinct seasons: the dry season and the rainy season. The dry season runs from December to April. The rainy season runs from May to November.

The weather in Costa Rica is generally warm and humid. The average temperature is around 80 degrees Fahrenheit. However, the temperature can vary depending on the altitude and the time of year.

The dry season is the most popular time to visit Costa Rica. The weather is sunny and dry, and the temperatures are pleasant. The rainy season is also a good time to visit Costa Rica. The weather is still warm, but there is more rain. The rain is usually heavy, but it doesn't last long.

The Culture

Costa Rica is a very diverse country with a rich culture. The people of Costa Rica are friendly and welcoming. They are proud of their country and their culture. Costa Rican culture is a blend of Spanish, African, and indigenous influences.

Costa Ricans are very family-oriented. They love to spend time with their families and friends. They are also very religious. Catholicism is the predominant religion in Costa Rica. However, there is a growing number of Protestants and other religious groups.

Costa Rican culture is also very relaxed. The people of Costa Rica enjoy taking their time and enjoying life. They are not as stressed as people in other countries. They are also very helpful and generous. They are always willing to lend a helping hand to those in need.
