World War I (1914-1918)

World War I was a global conflict that began in Europe in the summer of 1914. The war involved all of the great powers, including Britain, France, Russia, Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy. By the end of the war, more than 10 million people had been killed and millions more had been wounded.

The war began with the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary by a Serbian nationalist. This event triggered a series of diplomatic crises that led to the outbreak of war in August 1914.

The war was fought on multiple fronts, including Europe, the Middle East, and Africa. The fighting was often brutal and resulted in heavy casualties. The war ended with the armistice of November 11, 1918.

World War II (1939-1945)

World War II was a global conflict that began in Europe in the summer of 1939. The war involved all of the great powers, including Britain, France, Russia, Germany, Japan, and the United States. By the end of the war, more than 60 million people had been killed and millions more had been wounded.

The war began with the invasion of Poland by Nazi Germany on September 1, 1939. This event marked the beginning of a series of territorial expansions by Germany that would eventually lead to the outbreak of war in Europe.

The war was fought on multiple fronts, including Europe, the Middle East, and Asia. The fighting was often brutal and resulted in heavy casualties. The war ended with the surrender of Japan on September 2, 1945.

Other Major Conflicts of the 20th Century

In addition to the two world wars, the 20th century also saw a number of other major conflicts. These conflicts include the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939), the Korean War (1950-1953), the Vietnam War (1955-1975), and the Gulf War (1990-1991).

These conflicts were fought for a variety of reasons, including political ideology, territorial disputes, and economic interests. The fighting often resulted in heavy casualties and had a significant impact on the lives of millions of people.
